Gothenburg, Sweden

Participatory designer and researcher with a focus on co-design, visual storytelling, and performative methods that engage children and youth. Academic background in Design + Change and Child Culture Design, with interdisciplinary experience spanning sustainability, scenography, and inclusive pedagogies. Skilled in designing collaborative processes that support intergenerational dialogue, creative agency, and social imagination.

I am a curious, resilient, and empathetic person who thrives in collaboration and exchange. I draw energy from dialogue and from the spark of imagination that emerges when different perspectives meet. Playfulness is central to how I approach both life and work—I see uncertainty not as an obstacle but as a space of possibility, a chance to reframe challenges into creative opportunities. At the same time, I value honesty, humility, and care, which ground my relationships and guide how I contribute to collective efforts. I believe that resilience is not only an individual trait but something nurtured together, and I aim to bring humour, openness, and a reflective spirit into every setting I am part of.

Curriculum Vitae

Education

Universitatea de Arhitectură și Design
Bucharest // 2017 – 2018 // BA

During the final two years of high school, I focused on descriptive geometry, traditional perspective rendering, and freehand drawing—skills essential for admission to Ion Mincu University of Architecture and Urbanism. My first year of domestic studies in Product Design offered space for reflection, prompting me to question my disciplinary boundaries and artistic motivations. That experience ultimately led me to pursue education abroad, where I could challenge myself by exploring unfamiliar design approaches and methodologies.

Linnéuniversitet // Design +Change
Växjö // 2019 – 2022 // BA

My relationship with ambiguity began during my studies in Design + Change, where I was exposed to the implications of various design disciplines in a fast-paced, interdisciplinary context. The program emphasizes inclusive and sustainable design thinking, with the aim of shaping students into agents of change. Its pedagogical structure deepened my holistic understanding of design's role across contexts. As a metadesigner, I was trained to analyse and intervene in design frameworks operating at multiple scales and levels of abstraction.

Göteborgs Universitet // Child Culture Design
Gothenburg // 2022 – 2024 // MA

The Child Culture Design master's program offered the space and tools to refine my direction as a design researcher. It provided a robust academic framework for exploring research through design, allowing me to develop, facilitate, and document collaborative workshops with neurodivergent children. These experiences placed me in contexts where design practice became deeply purposeful—grounded in empathy, co-creation, and a sustained commitment to children's agency.

Employment History

Interior Designer // Koncepteriet Växjö // 2021

In the second year of my Design + Change studies, I completed an internship at Koncepteriet—an interior design company focused on sustainable practices. I joined the team during the iteration phase of a furniture refurbishment project, where I explored methods for repurposing discarded office furniture. My contributions included material research, digital 3D modelling, and hand-drawn renderings to support visual conceptualisation and design development.

Set Designer // Handledaren // FilmcentrumSyd Malmö // 2021

I planned and arranged the film sets for Handledaren, contributing as the project's set designer. In addition to developing the visual and spatial environment, I had the opportunity to work on set in various crew roles. While I especially valued the process of designing and constructing the sets, participating in the collaborative atmosphere of the film production was equally rewarding.

WP Leader // Horizon CL3 EU // 2025

Responsible for designing and facilitating participatory methods for resident engagement, with a focus on vulnerable youth and marginalised groups. Led the prototyping of creative data capture tools (storyboards, scripts, mosaic kits, visual journals, ethno-scenography) feeding into qualitative research streams, and supported the conceptual development of the INFO-BUS mobile unit.
